

- 26 -

A B S T R A C T

A disposable pants-type wearing article includes a body fluid absorbent assembly. In a crotch region of the wearing article, transversely opposite side edges of the body fluid absorbent assembly are respectively formed with folded portions so that a non-folded portion extending in from of the folded portions may have a relatively small extent and a non-folded portion extending behind the folded portions may have a relatively large extent.